

$15 Million DC Project Approved

The Daly City Council Wednesday unanimously approved a $15 million apartment-office complex on Gellert Boulevard, next to the Serramonte Shopping Center.

Developers Jack and Ronald Fierman, owners of Ronal Construction Co. of Philadelphia, are expected to start building the 315-unit complex "as soon as the rains stop and minor details can be worked out," a spokesman for the company said following the council's decision.

There had been some opposition to the complex initially when it was thought that the development would contain "mom and pop" type stores to work in direct competition to the mall.

Members of the Serramonte Merchants Association voiced concern, but were reassured when both the developer and John Badgley, architect on the project, said no such stores would be included.

Instead, according to Badgley, stores that would "accent rather than detract from the center" will be built.

A total of 60,000 square feet of space will be used for office and commercial enterprises, Badgley explained.

City Atty. Albert Polonsky said the area could be developed into some 400,000 square feet of retail outlets if the owner chose to do so.

But Fierman is primarily an apartment house builder, Badgley told the council.

Councilman Bernard J. Lycett reiterated his previous stand that he wanted "concrete assurances" that such stores would not go into the complex.

He asked Badgley if it would be possible for the owner-developer to agree in writing to file a new environmental impact report if such a move were made.

Badgley said Fierman "could write such a letter."

Earlier, Lycett said he was "more than a little concerned" about prospects of having a number of small stores located in close proximity to the Serramonte Shopping Center — a major source of tax revenues to the city.

Julius Castelan, a Daly City resident, questioned whether the height limit (36 feet) was going to be violated and why the developer couldn't be encouraged to build apartments which rent for less than $200 a month for low-income people.

City Mgr. David Rowe said the area was zoned to allow variances for higher than 36 feet and that there were several such structures, including Mary's Help Hospital, granted similar height variances in the city.

Lycett informed Castelan that the council had been pushing for some two years for two senior citizen low-cost housing units for the city and had spent many hours looking into the matter.

Later, Lycett said he understood the "holdup" on the project was the lack of government approval for certain funds.

The steep hilly terrain in the site area is suitable for such multi-storied development, McRobert Stewart, a councilman and former planning commissioner, explained to Castelan.

Stewart said, "If you know the area we're talking about, then you would know such a complex will enhance the area, not detract from it."

Parking will be underground and residents will go to their apartment homes on "hillovers" and elevators, Badgley said.

On the subject of low-cost housing, Stewart brought up redevelopment as one means of providing such housing.

Presently, the commercial strip along Mission Street and Junipero Serra Boulevard is targeted for redevelopment.

And while Stewart did not say it, he later indicated perhaps such housing could be included in the venture.

New Disclosure Bill: Grumbling Exceeds Praise

By JOHN HORGAN

As 1974 comes into view, a political time bomb is rapidly ticking away in California.

On New Year's Day, a new state law authored by Sen. George Moscone goes into effect that will force state and local officials to reveal the kinds of crucial financial information which presumably bears on the question of conflict of interest.

The law has already had an effect in San Mateo County. At least three, and possibly four, local officials have quit posts in county cities because of it.

San Mateo, the county's largest city, has been most affected by the legislation. One councilman, Hugh Wayne, and two members of city commissions, attorneys Thomas Casey and William Murphy, have tendered their resignations.

Half Moon Bay Mayor Gerald Pera also resigned, citing the law as one of several reasons for his decision.

Other officials in the county have expressed deep concern over some of the implications of the measure.

There is a possibility that other public servants will also choose to step down rather than divulge financial data.

Although some of the provisions of the law remain hazy (specific deadlines for filing information are ambiguous), it is clear that all public officials must file financial statements in April of 1974.

After Jan. 1, all non-incumbent candidates for office must also file such statements with their nomination papers.

In addition, city attorneys in some county cities here have advised non-incumbent candidates to file financial forms as well — even though the law doesn't go into effect until Jan. 1 and the filing deadline for the election in many cities is this Thursday.

Generally, the grumbling over this law exceeds praise-worthy comments among public officials.

City Atty. Albert Polonsky of Daly City echoes the view of most critics when he complains that the law goes too far and can open up a person's entire financial background whether or not "it has any relevancy to his actions as an official."

Other city attorneys are advising candidates and officials to list only those assets and sources of income which would directly affect their ability to make decisions without bias in those particular cities.

For example, Wayne McFadden, city attorney for Foster City, says he has told officials there to divulge only what they own in Foster City and what assets could affect decisions to be made in Foster City.

McFadden adds that he is somewhat in favor of the law — provided the results of the statements were not to be made public.

There are some interesting possibilities which could well emerge as areas which the law was intended to cover but does not.

For example, it has been pointed out that some officials — especially councilmen and planning commissioners — who double as real estate agents and who possess obvious conflicts of interest could still get around this law.

They could do so by citing the fact that some of them are paid by a particular real estate company, not by the clients themselves. Hence, such an official would not have to list the names of

Split Second Saves a Life

A Daly City police rookie and a Yellow Cab driver grabbed a young man split seconds before he would have plunged some 40 feet onto the southbound lanes of the Junipero Serra Freeway, and to almost certain death, early Monday.

The man, Andrezej P. Zwierzchowski, of Daly City, had hung from the School Street overpass of the interstate freeway for several minutes after climbing over a railing.

An unidentified caller alerted police to "a man hanging from the overpass" and officer Carlos Carrillo responded to the scene shortly after midnight.

At about the same time Officer Carrillo arrived at the scene, Yellow Cab Company driver Roth Van Dyke pulled up.

Together, the men reached over the rail just as Zwierzchowski let go.

The rescuers managed to hang onto the would-be suicide victim until other officers arrived and helped in pulling him to safety.

He was sent to Chope Community Hospital for observation.

Zwierzchowski is employed as a stonecutter in a local cemetery, police said.

He escaped from Communist Poland into West Germany several years ago and made his way to the United States.

Recently, he began acting distressed, according to police investigators.

However, the reason for his wanting to jump off the bridge in an apparent suicide attempt, is not known, a police spokesman said.

A Near Record

Huge Candidate Turnout

By FRANK LAPIERRE

After more than 12 years on the San Bruno City Council, Attorney Neil Christal has decided not to run again.

He failed to file nomination papers for the upcoming March 5 election by yesterday's noon deadline.

Christal, who weathered a recall movement against him and two other councilmen some two years ago, took out nomination papers last week. He had served three times as mayor of San Bruno.

But the number of candidates in the municipal elections throughout the North County is a near record, political observers claim.

For example, in Daly City, where three seats are up for grabs, there are six candidates.

Included in this group are the three men who now hold council seats — longtime councilman and former mayor Bernard J. "Bud" Lycett, first term councilman McRobert "Mac" Stewart, and attorney Victor Kyriakis.

Kyriakis was appointed to replace Assemblyman Louis J. Papan 17 months ago, but because of the new election law he will not be able to be listed as an "incumbent" on the ballot.

Nine persons had taken out papers to run.

Others who are candidates in Daly City are attorney William Schumacher, 16 St. James Court; Rev. Raymond M. Howard, 1295 Brunswick

St., and law student Lawrence Dale Murray, 274 Alexander Ave.

Brisbane, finishing the year 1973 in continued political turmoil which already cost three veteran councilmen their jobs during a recall election earlier, has 10 candidates vying for three seats.

James E. "Red" Williams, a teacher appointed last year, likewise cannot be designated as an "incumbent" in the election.

Williams, 385 Alvarado St., will try to keep his seat for four more years.

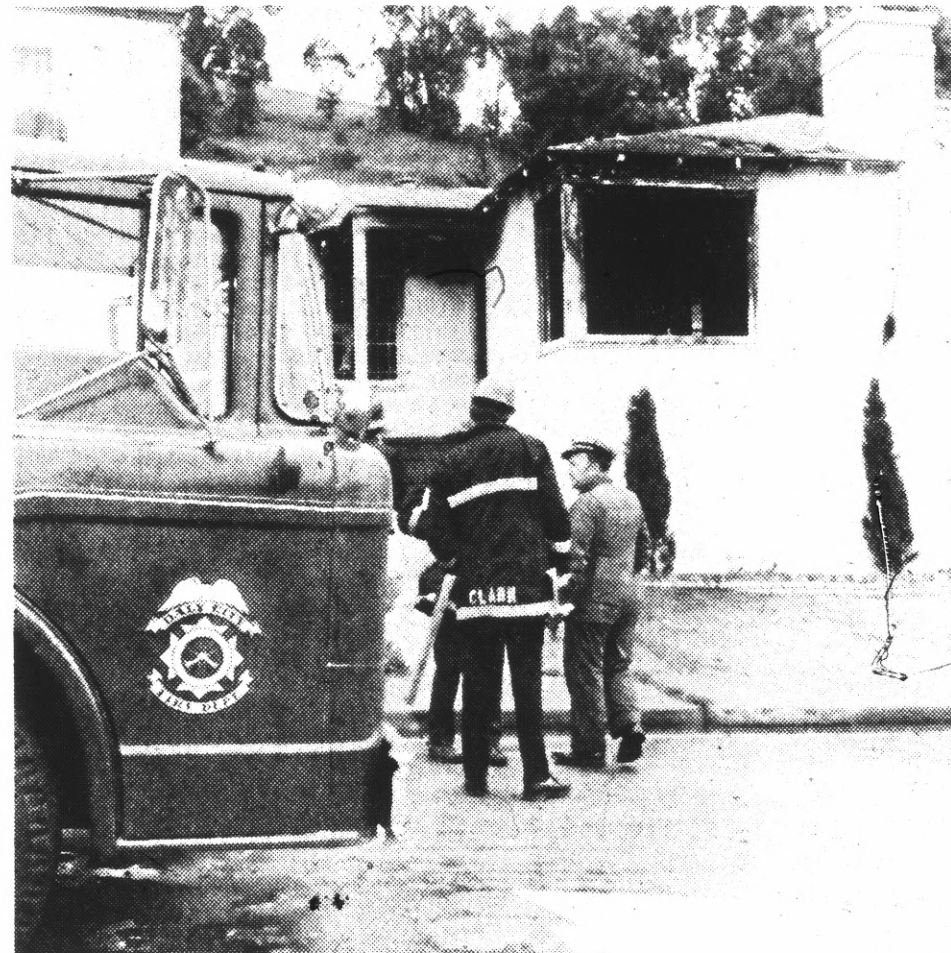

Two incumbents elected recently in the wake of the successful recall of Jess E. Salmon, William Lawrence and Julius Stern, filed for reelection.

They are Mrs. Anja

Miller, 224 Sierra Pt. Road, and Art Montenegro, shipping clerk, 260 Trinity Road.

Others filing are Charles Stanyan Jr., film producer, 905 Humboldt Road, John C. Burr, student, 221 Kings Road, Jeannine Hodge, teacher, 23 San Benito Road, Laura M. Johnson, housewife, 215 Klamath St., Joseph Thompson, retired.

Daly City Hearing Set on Cable Television Charges

A public hearing will be held in early February to determine what action, if any, should be taken against Vista Grande Cable Television Co. for alleged violations of its franchise contract with Daly City.

Wednesday, City Atty. Albert Polonsky outlined six charges against the company, including failure to complete a citywide system, poor signal quality, inadequate repair service to subscribers, failure to construct a local program studio as agreed upon between Vista Grande and Daly City, and non-payment of franchise fees.

Polonsky said the City Council has three courses of action to take in the matter after hearing the evidence:

Terminate the franchise with Vista Grande; adjust the monthly subscriber rates, or modify certain sections of the agreement between the two offices.

The company has been in default on the matter since last July 3, Polonsky said in a letter to City Mgr. David Rowe.

He reminded that the cable company had been previously granted an extension of several months.

Vista Grande's manager, Spence St. M. Wood, answered Polonsky's request for information on the current status of the system.

Wood informed the city attorney that the cost of completing Phase III and undergrounding of cables in certain areas of the city would total $1,258,000. A studio for Daly City would cost an estimated $150,000, Wood said.

Undergrounding alone — primarily in the Serramonte area — would cost some $950,000, according to the manager.

Vista Grande is a subsidiary of Telecommunications, Inc. of Denver, Colo., with regional offices in Santa Clara.

Wood responded to Rowe on the problems facing the company, aside from the labor dispute between Vista Grande and several employees who allegedly were "locked out" upon closure of the Daly City office two months ago.

Boat Is Beached; Persons Missing

A Coast Guard helicopter was dispatched at mid-morning to attempt to recover two bodies reportedly seen in the ocean off of Half Moon Bay.

Coast Guard search teams were again combing the ocean off Thornton Beach in the Daly City-Pacific area today looking for three persons missing from a 30-foot sailboat "Prelude," that went aground near Mussel Rock Sunday.

Helicopters and surface vessels were pressed into the search at daybreak this morning in the hope the three persons who were thought to have sailed with the craft out of Berkeley yesterday could be found.

So far, only bits of clothing, two life jackets and some planking from the sailboat have been recovered.

The Prelude was found about 1:30 p.m. Sunday by a ranger stationed at Thornton Beach State Park in Daly City.

The ship had a hole in the bow and no mast. She was breaking up in moderate surf, rescuers said.

The life jackets and other pieces of equipment, believed to be from the Prelude, were found near the grounded sailboat. At Linda Mar, in Pacifica, five miles south of Thornton Beach, the clothing and toilet articles were found, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

Search and rescue teams of the Coast Guard stopped operations at nightfall last night.

A Coast Guard spokesman theorized that three persons were aboard the Prelude when it sailed. They believe one of those aboard was a young boy.

Registered owner of the Prelude, according to records, is Michael Hogan of Pacheco, Contra Costa County.

The Coast Guard would not speculate on whether Hogan was among those missing. Nor would they identify the two other persons listed as missing.

Daly City Officers Honored

Two Daly City police officers have been awarded plaques (above) for meritorious conduct in the apprehension of three armed robbery suspects last Dec. 6.

Recipients of the awards presented Thursday by the Peninsula Police Officers Association were Robert Vogt, 25, and Robert Sola, 32.

Association President Clifford Gerst, a San Carlos police officer, said the awards to Vogt and Sola were the first given since 1971, when Daly City Officer Terry Henabek received one for diving into Lake Merced to try to save the pilot of a crashed helicopter. He was unsuccessful, but endangered his life in the attempt.

Gerst said Vogt, a four-year officer, and Sola, a 10-year veteran, received the plaques and gold maple leaf emblems for their jackets for "outstanding bravery under unusual circumstances likely to produce death or serious injury to the officer."

Daly City Police Capt. David A. Hansen, in nominating the pair, told the story:

"Upon receiving a radio message that units from South San Francisco were in hot pursuit of an auto containing three armed robbery suspects about to enter Daly City, officers Vogt and Sola and others undertook to

Bud Lycett Files for Daly City Council Re-election

Bernard J. "Bud" Lycett Wednesday filed for re-election to the seat he has held on the Daly City Council for the past 10 years — seven, as mayor of the city.

"I intend to campaign on the accomplishments I have made on behalf of the community under the 'pay-as-we-go' system, and to continue, if I am returned to office, to try my best to find solutions to problems our city has encountered, especially in recent months," Lycett said.

Among these "problems," Lycett explained, is parking around the Bay Area Rapid Transit station and the rehabilitation of Mission St. and Junipero Serra Blvd. through redevelopment.

"There seems little doubt that Mission St. direly needs new life breathed into it," Lycett commented on the once-prosperous business district.

On the subject of BART station parking, he lashed out at those critics who said the city was unprepared for the station opening and did not expect the parking problem to be so prevalent.

"Nothing could be further from the truth," Lycett said. "Since 1968 I have insisted that BART put in more parking than the 650 spaces it had originally planned."

"I went to San Diego and Sacramento on several occasions at my own expense and on my own time to plead for funds to build a garage at the BART station capable of holding at least 1,400 cars. These requests are all well-documented. In San Diego, Daly City was given first priority over other cities for the monies. And in Sacramento the State Highway Department likewise pushed through the necessary paperwork on the issue," he said.

The need for additional BART parking is not new to the longtime councilman.

"I suppose I could have said 'I told them so,'" Lycett said, "but this attitude would not relieve the situation."

Lycett said final solution to the BART parking problem is a mass transit system for the entire community — something that would provide all citizens with a means of traveling throughout the city cheaply and safely.

"A feeder bus system to not only the BART station, but to all key points, including Mary's Help Hospital, shopping centers, medical and recreational buildings and the Bayshore area, is badly needed. The location of BART in our city may provide the necessary justification for federal and state funding of such a system," Lycett said.

On the subject of San

Bruno Mountain, Lycett, who is past president and a current member of the Regional Parks Committee, said he has continually maintained that Daly City could offer all necessary support services to the mountain.

He applauded the planning now going into establishment of a large regional type park on the undeveloped mountain, and pointed out he "fought tooth and nail" for several years to have the mountain park site given top priority.

"I want it clearly understood, however, that I do not want any other tax burdens placed on the shoulders of our citizens, we already have too many Federal, State and County taxes on our backs and very few county services to show for our money," Lycett said.

Unless the Crocker Industrial Park, on the east slopes of the mountain, is included in any annexation to Daly City of a residential development, as has been proposed in recent years, the councilman said he would not favor annexation.

Lycett said the industrial park would generate revenues from property and sales taxes and would offset costs of providing support facilities to the proposed residential complex there.

Other projects Lycett has been involved in during the past four years on the city council include:

Construction of the new Westlake Community Center and Gym; Acquisition of the Bayshore Library and modernization of this facility; Enlargement of the Lincoln Park Clubhouse site, now in its final agreement phase; Construction of the Civic Center Building and new Serramonte fire station, bringing the total of fire stations in the city to five — all equipped with the latest in firefighting equipment.

Development of the 21-acre Gellert Park at no tax increase to residents; improvement of Knowles Ave., recently renamed John Daly Ave.; Water reservoir 3D in the Serramonte area, which will have tennis courts located on top of the underground facility; Acquisition of parking lots along Mission St. to assist businessmen there; Assisting the Guadalupe Health Center at 75 Wellington Ave., and continued voting on its behalf to get monies from federal revenue sharing funds.

"I'm proud of my voting record on behalf of the citizens of this community, and I intend to continue a policy of fiscal responsibility if re-elected," Lycett said.

New Disclosure Bill

Although there are going to be loopholes discovered in this legislation, some politicians find favor with it anyway. One of them is State Sen. Arlen Gregorio of San Mateo.

Gregorio, who authored a similar bill like this one but watched it die in committee in Sacramento earlier this year, believes that Moscone's bill can be productive and beneficial for the citizenry.

"We need a demonstration from government that it does care about honesty and integrity," he says. "This bill might not be perfect but it's a step in the right direction. It may be a little harsh on local government but the total concept is a good one."

Noting that the fallout from Watergate was a sure cause for having such a law, Gregorio feels that one of the few bad aspects of the measure is that some people who have substantial assets and income but who serve their communities honestly and ably "may have to step down."

But, for the most part, he thinks that most officials will be able to live with the law.

Another backer of the Moscone bill is Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr.

He says, "People across the country have indicated their respect for public officials is at an all-time low and that something must be done."

two of whom had long records, one being wanted by Oregon for armed robbery.

"The officers acted with full knowledge of the inherent danger, and took aggressive and efficient action at the risk of their own lives."

Henabek presented the awards at a ceremony at a Belmont restaurant Thursday night, attended by 44 members of the Police Officers Association.

The suspects face court action early next year. Gerst said a three-member panel of the association reviewed the nominations and approved them.

With full knowledge that gunshots had been exchanged between the suspects and police during the course of the chase, Vogt and Sola and others cornered and stopped the suspect vehicle.

Immediately (they) found themselves under fire by two of the three suspects.

Three of the incoming rounds were stopped by the driver's side door of Vogt's car. The officers returned fire, wounding one suspect.

Prompt, courageous and efficient action of Vogt, Sola and others resulted in the apprehension of the suspects,

There are two seats open on the Colma council this election period, in addition to the posts of City Treasurer and City Clerk.

Longtime councilman and former mayor Raymond D. Ottoboni, 435 F. St., and Mrs. Rena Valleria, 448 E. St. are incumbent candidates in the election.

Attempting to unseat the incumbents will be Mrs. Elsie Campbell, housewife, 445 E. St., Eugene E. Danculuz, businessman, 1681 Mission Rd., and Emil Kruljac, employed by the Serbian Cemetery, Rt. 1, Box 118.

City Clerk Blanche Lagomarsino and City Treasurer Mary V. Ryan face no opposition for their posts.

There were apparent last-minute changes of mind in three other North County cities as persons who took out nomination papers failed to file them by the noon deadline.

Two incumbents — Tony Governale and Margaret Kozowski — will be running for re-election.

Both were seated during the same recall election that unseated Richard Griffith and Theodore Long.

Griffith, a postal clerk, of 135 Madison Ave., is seeking to regain the seat he lost almost three years ago.

Others running will be Ralph A. Manchego, 161 Ross Way, an inspector for the health department; Gary Mondtrans, 713 Pepper Dr., a university student, and Henry "Hank" Siddall, 2445 Rollingwood Dr., retired from the Air Force.

A surprise withdrawal from the Pacific race is Emory Lebonville of Moana Drive.

He was one of the three candidates endorsed by the United Citizens of Pacifica, which is now reportedly polling its members as to their further wishes on endorsement.

Councilman Don Halverson had announced his withdrawal previously.

A last-minute entry to the race is Peter Murray, 497 Pacific Ave., who took out his papers during Wednesday night's rainstorm, and returned them Thursday minutes before deadline.

Others filing: Virginia Jaeger, 396 Mina Lane; Warren Gabrielli, 120 Del Monte Drive; Sidnes Loran, 267 Juanita Ave.; Fred Howard, 423 Firecrest Ave.; Kathryn "Kitty" Bouly-Wilson, 352 San Pedro Ave.; William Richardson, 543 Dolphin Drive; May T. Gee, 575 Talbot Ave.; Janice Fulford, Pedro Point resident, and Stanley M. Farber, 992 Park Pacifica Ave. — the sole incumbent in the race.

Many Projects

SSF Looks Ahead to Growth

By JACK BIK
As South San Francisco goes into 1974, it faces the start of a great effort to bring its civic facilities up to snuff.

Work — mostly design — on a new $5,400,000 public safety complex; a $1,520,000 corporation yard; a $2,375,000 community center; a $700,000 expansion of Orange Memorial Park; plus hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of street work, traffic signals and drainage projects are seen for 1974.

In addition, expansion of the Oyster Point small boat harbor is in the offing. Also the major part of the $8-million Colma Creek flood control project is due to start in 1974.

At least one project — the public safety complex — will have to depend on passage of a bond issue. This would include a new police station, and a new central firehouse to be located on Chestnut and Grand Avenues.

This will spark a quarter-million dollars worth of City Hall remodeling, part of which is already under way. The current project includes new windows, heating and cooling, plumbing, electrical work, and dropped ceilings. It is all part of a plan to be built in 1974-75 alongside Colma Creek next to the Guy F. Atkinson building, will free two pieces of land in Orange Memorial Park for future development. Alario hopes to budget $150,000 in fiscal 1974-75 to design a $2,375,000 community center there, plus $45,000 for design of new baseball facilities, lights, bleachers, additional picnic facilities, tennis court lighting and general park remodeling.

Major street project coming up is reconstruction of growing city on the Peninsula.

Building permits have just been issued for two giant warehouse-type buildings on Point San Bruno totaling almost $900,000 in cost — for the shell only.

In Westborough, approximately 150 townhouses are under construction by Snyder and Co., while the first of a four-phase apartment development by Grubb and Ellis is going up on Westborough Boulevard. It will total about 350 units at a cost of $5,300,000 when completed, according to estimates by the South San Francisco building department.

Townhouses are also under construction in a giant project on Sign Hill.

Also, it looks like South San Francisco's schools are facing a period of calm after years of turmoil.

South City's school building program has stopped, uncompleted, as enrollment growth has slowed with the end of the baby boom. However, because of rapid growth in the Westborough area — and to an extent in the Sign Hill area — South San Francisco remains one of the three school districts still growing in San Mateo County.

"We expect our growth to peak by 1976," Supt. Paul Nielsen says.

The school district has about 80 portable classrooms and is currently able to take care of falling enrollments in one area and rising enrollments in the other by moving the rooms around.

The district is meanwhile concentrating on improvements in curriculum.

The district is currently hiring teaching specialists to provide mini-courses in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades so the classroom teachers can have preparation periods. The teachers voted to finance this out of part of the funds they had expected for a pay increase.

South San Francisco has a newly adopted Early Childhood Education pilot program at Martin and Ponderosa Schools. According to Dr. Nielsen, the programs are proven successes, with many parents involved. The programs may spread to additional schools.

Another program coming along, in February, will be designed to help the teaching staff become aware of the history and culture of minority groups.

Les Davis, Chamber of Commerce manager, sees continued growth of South San Francisco, but is not hopeful of any downtown improvement projects in the near future.

The problem remains the vacancy of the city's largest retail store — formerly occupied by White Front. On the other hand, one new shopping center, on Chestnut Avenue, has just been completed, an auto dealer will soon open across the street from it, and business as a whole seems to be prospering for South San Francisco.

WHAT'S IN STORE FOR '74?

Policemen Praised for Actions

Four Daly City policemen came in for some special praise by the city council and the president of the First National Bank of Daly City Wednesday night.

In a letter to Mayor Anthony Giammona and the city council, bank President Charles K. Turner outlined the recent holdup of his Mission Street bank by four armed men and their successful apprehension minutes later by the four officers.

Turner said about 4 p.m. on Dec. 14, three men, armed with sawed-off shotguns and handguns, entered the bank while some 40 customers were inside transacting business.

With the armed suspects on the premises there was a clear and present danger to all should the robbers have been forced to take hostages or lives in an attempt to escape, Turner said.

Instead of rushing the bank, the officers, who had been alerted by an employee talking to his wife on the phone when the robbers entered the bank, kept their distance until the gunmen left the building.

It was then they moved in and captured the men without a struggle.

"The individual efforts of arresting officers Fred Holewinski, Tom Barner, Don Cubic and Tino Salzano were outstanding and our humble praise for their very professional efforts seems insufficient at best," Turner said.

Turner called the action "perfection in law enforcement."

take an old building which has technically outlived its usefulness, but which has become a beloved landmark, and convert its interior into modern and comfortable working quarters, while preserving its esthetic integrity — in the words of City Mgr. Ed Alario.

The biggest change, however, will be a $100,000 addition to the rear of City Hall. This will enlarge the city council chamber and provide an office and conference space for the mayor.

Erection of a $105,000 building in Westborough Park will round off what is becoming a second major recreational complex for South San Francisco. Acquisition of an eight-acre unused school site next to Alta Loma Junior High will provide the site for a third major recreation complex.

The city will be acquiring two other park sites from the county, alongside the Westborough Boulevard extension. On the Buri-Buri Park site, picnic facilities, a day camp, lights for an existing softball field and a neighborhood recreation building will be built. The Arroyo Park site, bordering Junipero Serra Boulevard, is commonly known as "The Hole." The corporation yard, to Airport Boulevard, for $310,000. Projects may begin before the end of 1974, according to Alario, include reconstruction of parts of Grand and East Grand Avenue, Spruce Avenue, Hillside Boulevard, Chestnut Avenue, San Mateo Avenue and Belle Air Road.

Miller Avenue is slated to be extended from Chestnut to Willow Avenue, to link Sunshine Gardens more directly to downtown.

A study of the proposed Oyster Point Harbor expansion is due to be completed in early 1974.

After many years, it appears that the Colma Creek Flood Control project will finally be ready to start, perhaps in late summer, to protect the city from the constant flooding that has plagued it during winter storms.

Alario says that his first priority for 1974 is to bring the city staff up to strength, and to replace the many "acting" department heads with permanent heads. He has already made a start, with appointments of three new officials, due to report for work in January.

Meanwhile, even in this period of a building let-down, nationally, South San Francisco remains the fastest

Driver Tells SSF Robbery

Gary Libak, 124 Humboldt Road, Brisbane, reported to South San Francisco police late last week that he was held up while driving along El Camino Real.

Officers said Libak told them he stopped for a red light at Westborough Boulevard, and the robber opened his car door and demanded, "Move over and give me what you got."

The robber, brandishing a small caliber revolver, escaped with $70 to $75, Libak told police.

County Chief Scout Named

Neil R. Farmer has been named new Chief Scout Executive of the San Mateo Council Boy Scouts. The appointment was approved by the executive board at its recent meeting, according to Albert J. Horn, president of the council.

In making the announcement, Horn expressed high praise for the screening committee, for its diligent work in seeking the new scouting professional who will take over officially Jan. 1.

A native of Riverside, Calif., Farmer is a graduate of Louis & Clark College at Portland, Ore. For the past two years, he has served as the Administrative Assistant to the Chief Executive at Scout Headquarters, in New Brunswick, New Jersey.

Farmer brings an in-depth knowledge to the San Mateo Council. His first professional post was as field executive at Santa Ana, Calif., and then as district executive in Sacramento. In 1960 he served in Riverside and then held the position of Deputy Executive for the Portland area.

In May of 1969, Farmer joined the national staff as Director of the Capitol Campaign in the local Council Finance Division. He was appointed to the Chief Executive Staff in July, 1971.

Much of Farmer's area of responsibility has been in the area of coordination and planning specialized programs and projects.

Farmer and his wife, Dorothy have five children. Mrs. Farmer has been active for several years as a volunteer leader in the Camp Fire Girls. Their son Mark, is a Life Scout.

LWV Will Discuss Land Use

The League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County will hold a general meeting at St. Martin's Episcopal Church, 777 Southgate, Daly City, 9:30 to 12 noon Jan. 8.

Land Use is the topic for the meeting. Questions such as should there be a growth policy, if any, established? what would be the effect of such a policy on our environment, human and social needs, economic growth, employment? Should these decisions be made at the city, county, or regional level? will be discussed.

To help us understand the land use problem William Powers, assistant San Mateo County planning director and John Walker, Daly City city planner, will speak.

Powers joined the San Mateo County staff in July 1973. He came to the county with nine years experience with the Stanford Research Institute State Office of Planning, Sacramento. Walker has been with Daly City for 5½ years and previously worked with the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission for 9½ years.

The meeting will be chaired by Lois Young, past league president. The Daly City unit, Mary Jo Juster unit chairman, will be the hostesses.

Babysitting at a nominal fee will be available. For reservations for this service or for transportation call the league telephone, 355-4408.

Retired? Not CSM's Job Counselor

When he was an undergraduate at Antioch College, Ohio, in the 1920's, Lowell Mainland worked at an advertising agency under the school's cooperative education program. Antioch was the first college in the United States to have a cooperative education program permitting liberal arts students to gain practical experience in the community while attending school.

Today, after a rewarding 41-year career in advertising in Chicago and the Bay Area, Mainland has come full circle: he's a job developer for the College of San Mateo Cooperative Education Program. The CSM program is one of the newest in the nation: it was initiated just five years ago.

Mainland who took an early retirement as an agency vice-president, first went to work at CSM as a volunteer and told the people running the program just to pay his expenses. But after a while, CSM put him on the payroll at a minimum salary.

He now averages 17 to 20 hours a week counseling students, helping to find suitable jobs for them and visiting employers to sell them on the concept.

"Ninety-eight per cent of our students get a wonderful reception from employers. Some employers ask if we've got any more like the one just placed. They ask us to send them on if we have," he said.

"Once an employer learns from actual experience about the hard-working, serious students in our program, he's sold."

Mainland is lavish in his praise of the CSM students he has worked with since 1968.

The unique College of San Mateo Cooperative Education program is in full swing at the local campus, as student Debra Anderson discusses her job future with job developer Lowell Mainland. Mainland is a former advertising agency vice president, having joined CSM after his retirement from J. Walter Thompson Co.

Gifted Children Group Formed

As the primary goal of public education moves toward increased individualization of instruction, more and more parents and educators are beginning to realize that unlimited opportunities for enrichment and exploration — intellectual, social, physical and emotional — should be made available to students.

Gifted students, especially, need a variety of stimulating experiences in school and out which will encourage them to approach their adult lives with the same limitless curiosity and creativity common to them as children.

A new group, the Peninsula Association for Gifted Students, is being formed in San Mateo County to help guarantee that local gifted children will have such opportunities.

According to Barbara Wawrzynski of Daly City, interim chairman of PAGS, the goals of the organization can be stated simply. First, since California school boards are encouraged by law to provide programs for the academically talented either within their own local districts or banded together in a county wide program operated by the County Schools Office, PAGS will support development of school programs for gifted students.

Second, since parents are often the first ones to see and recognize giftedness in their children, PAGS will "provide a forum for parents to learn both how to assess and encourage giftedness as well as how to enrich and expand out of school experiences for their children."

Third, since gifted children comprise only 2 per cent of the population and often are isolated in very small groups in their local school communities, PAGS will attempt to organize on a county-wide basis out of school workshops, field trips and other activities in a variety of interest areas not usually found in schools. In order to accomplish this goal, PAGS is looking for volunteers interested in coordinating such activities.

Membership in PAGS is open to anyone 18 or over — parent, teacher, student, layman or professional educator — interested in its goals and willing to help further them. Family or single memberships are available. Eventually the group's headquarters will be located mid county, but until all details of organization have been completed, questions concerning PAGS may be directed either by mail or phone to the Gifted Resource Center, 609 Price Ave., Redwood City, Ca 94062 (Phone 364-5600, ext. 4361). Free copies of the PAGS monthly newsletter are available on request to anyone interested in finding out more about the organization.

Workers for PAGS along with Ms. Wawrzynski currently include Daniel March and George and Maureen Oleyar, South San Francisco; Rebecca Kadesh, San Bruno; Vernon and Arville Finacom, Millbrae; Larry and Wendy Held, Belle Shaver and Carol Canavero.

Foster City, Lenore Brad-dock, Half Moon Bay; Joan Miles, San Carlos; Kay Mears and Mr. and Mrs. Tom May, Redwood City; Curt and Ellen Schulze, Menlo Park; Jim Massey, Gifted Resource Center Director and Dr. James Olivera, Director of the Nueva Day School in Hillsborough, serve as advisors.

Baton Class Scheduled

January is Girl Scout cookie month, and the girls in this area are getting ready to begin their sales drive on Jan. 11.

Persons not associated with scouting or related to a young scout may not realize how vital a successful cookie sale is to the members of individual troops, as well as to the area council.

Of most importance to many parents, the sale gives the girls practical experience in greeting the public politely, and caring and handling money, selling techniques and in earning money to support their own activities.

In addition, the annual sale is the second highest income producer for the council.

The girls sell four varieties of cookies for $1 a box, and of that amount each girl's troop will keep 10 cents. The remainder of the profit goes to the council to train volunteer leaders, pay program consultants, and to recruit and train committee members and liaison officers.

For personal incentive, each girl selling 100 boxes receives a check for $10 for camping fees or camp equipment. Girls selling 50 boxes receive a poster, and girls selling at least 25 boxes receive a uniform patch.

The troop whose girls sell the most cookies will be provided with two nights' free use of a campsite or $25 for an activity of the troop's choice.

Mrs. Margaret Kachur is the "Chief Cookie Lady" for Daly City and Mrs. Joan Stewart's Troop 476 is the cookie sale's defending champion.

THE CLOTHING drive staged in November for the inmates of the San Francisco County Jail near San Bruno was termed a success, but the need continues and the office of Friends Outside, 3101 Nineteenth Ave., San Francisco, will continue to operate as a collection center for next to new clothes for men and women in jail.

Mrs. Lois Hillman spends hours sorting and packing items to be forwarded to the jail, and she reports that a need exists for shoes, playing cards, chess and checkers, as well as for the clothing.

If you are cleaning your closet to make space for all those new Christmas goodies, give a thought to sending the unneeded items to Friends Outside. Call 661-6900 for more information.

A REMINDER that the training program for Cub Scout leaders gets underway in less than a week, on Jan. 7.

Meetings will be held for Serra District leaders on Jan. 7, 14 and 21 at the Temple Methodist Church, 1111 Junipero Serra Blvd., at 7 p.m.

MEMBERS OF the Pacifica Fifty-Plus Club will install new officers on Jan. 8 at 10 a.m.

One of the first outings to be undertaken by the new slate of officers will be the direction of a tour to Death Valley in February.

Plans call for a 7 a.m. departure on Feb. 23, with stops at Lemoor Air Force Base, Casa Royale in Bakersfield, luncheon in the ghost town, Calico, and on to Death Valley for a two-night stay before jaunting up to the Stardust in Los Vegas.

Before returning to the Bay Area the tour will visit Lake Havasu, go around the lake on a motor launch, walk across the London Bridge and then bus home via Lancaster and Fort Tejon.

Cost of the trip is only $170 for twin occupancy or $220 per single. For more information call the reservations chairman, Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg.

DID YOU GRADUATE from Balboa High School in Fall '68? If so, Mrs. Mary Herheyden Morelli would like to hear from you.

An effort to hold a five-year reunion this February or March is underway, and names and addresses of class members living in San Mateo County are needed.

If you have a new address — new since 1968 — or if you know new addresses of fellow classmates, please forward to Mrs. Morelli, care of the alumni office, Balboa High School, 1000 Cayuga St., San Francisco.

Salud Para la Gente Health for People

By Kevin Davis and Carmen Olivares

Health care can be provided to the people in many different forms and from a variety of angles. Joe George, Rosa Montez, and Ralph San Miguel with the Social Services Department of Our Lady of Guadalupe Health Center, recently organized a successful snow trip for the youngsters from the Daly City area, to a mountain resort called "Little Sweden."

The snow trip Dec. 22, involved 160 kids between the ages of six and 16 with 20 adults. Eighty-five of the children were patients at Our Lady of Guadalupe Health Center.

The snow trip was the idea of Joe George who had helped to organize a similar trip last year. It took the three individuals two months to arrange and coordinate everything. Rosa Montez commented that the trip would not have been possible without assistance and donations from various organizations and local merchants: American Red Cross, the Girl Scouts, City of Daly City, G and M Sales, Sierra Ski Shop, Allen Meats, Indian Center, Mayfair on Mission, and the Starlight Market. These organizations and merchants provided such items as hot dogs, hot chocolate, saucers, toboggans and rentals of snow equipment at reduced prices.

JOE GEORGE said the major obstacle to the trip was the energy crisis affecting the entire country. Social Services had made reservations with two bus companies, which later cancelled because of the gas shortage. This problem was solved with the diligent assistance of Don Fleming, Assistant City Manager of Daly City. Don managed to obtain the much needed buses from Daly City.

The kids signed up for the trip in advance and were charged $1.50 each. Those who couldn't afford to pay received donations from the Health Center and other groups.

When Ralph San Miguel arrived at O.L.G.H.C. at 5:30 that Saturday morning, he said there were 30 kids already there, even though the buses weren't scheduled to leave until 7 a.m. The buses left promptly at 7 and arrived at "Little Sweden" in Sonoma County at 10:30. During the trip the kids had a firsthand opportunity to observe life in the country. They were particularly shocked to see chickens in the front yards of houses.

For many of the youngsters this was their first time in the snow. As soon as the kids got off the bus they began making snowmen, having snowball fights, tobogganing down the hill and in general, enjoying themselves in this new element.

ALL THE social workers commented on how well the children played together and shared the equipment. The older kids helped the younger kids in organizing games and activities. There was a first aid bus set up by the roadside. However, there were no injuries or incidents, so the first aid bus was used to warm the kids and dry out their clothes when they got wet. Hot dogs, pork and beans, and hot chocolate were available.

Rosa Montez discussed some of the therapeutic values of the trip. She had been working with one child in a tutoring program who was unable to communicate with his parents and had difficulties adjusting to his peer group. During the trip, the child opened up and had no problems relating and sharing with his peers.

Over-all, the social workers thought it was a very successful and worthwhile experience. It gave them a chance to relate to the kids they work with on an entirely different level, and it was a once in a lifetime opportunity for some of the kids.

The social workers summed it up by saying, "We feel there should be more programs of this type through social agencies, this is an excellent form of good 'Preventive mental health'."

Cuidado de salud puede ofrecerse a la gente en diferentes formas y por una infinidad de acciones. Joe George, Rosa Montez, y Ralph San Miguel junto con el Departamento de Servicios Sociales de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe, recientemente organizaron, con gran éxito, un viaje a la nieve para jóvenes de la ciudad de Daly City a un lugar llamado "Little Sweden."

En el viaje, cual se llevo a cabo el 22 de Diciembre de 1973, tomaron parte 160 jóvenes de 6 a 16 años de edad y 20 adultos. Ochenta y cinco de los jóvenes eran clientes del Centro de Salud de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe.

La idea de hacer un viaje fue concebida por Joe George quien habia alludado a organizar varios viajes de este tipo el ano pasado. Les tomo a estos tres individuos dos meses para arreglar y coordinar todos los detalles. Rosa Montez comenta que el paseo no hubiera sido posible sin la asistencia de varios organizaciones y negociantes locales como: La Cruz Roja, Girl Scouts, la Ciudad de Daly City, G & M Sales, Sierra Ski Shop, Allen Meats, Indian Center, el Mayfair de la calle Mission, y Starlight Market. Estas organizaciones y negociantes donaron cosas como: salsichas, chocolate caliente, platos, narrias, y renta de equipo para la nieve a precios reducidos.

JOE GEORGE dijo que el obstaculo mas grande que encontraron fue a causa de esta crisis de energia que esta afectando a todo el pais. El departamento de Servicios Sociales habia hecho reservaciones con dos companias de buses quienes mas tarde cancelaron por la falta de gasolina que existe. El problema fue resuelto gracias a la asistencia de Don Fleming, Asistente al Administrador de la Ciudad de Daly City. Don de alguna manera obtuvo los buses necesarios por parte de la Ciudad de Daly City.

Los jóvenes se empezaron a inscribir de antemano y se les cobro $1.50 por persona. Aquellos que no podian pagar recibieron donaciones del Centro de Salud de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe y otros grupos.

Cuando Ralph San Miguel llevo al Centro de Salud de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe a las cinco y media de la mañana, ya lo estaban esperando 30 jóvenes, aunque los buses estaban citados a partir a las siete. Los buses partieron puntualmente a las siete y llegaron a "Little Sweden" en el Condado de Sonoma a las 10:30 a.m. Durante el viaje muchos de los jóvenes tuvieron la oportunidad de observar la vida del campo. Mas que todo les impresiono ver gallinas en frente de las casas.

Para muchos de estos jóvenes era la primera vez que estaban en la nieve. Al bajarse del bus todos comenzaron a hacer hombres de nieve, pelearse con bolas de nieve, y a gozar generalmente del nuevo elemento.

TODOS LOS trabajadores sociales comentaron acerca de la manera en que los niños jugaron juntos en armonia y se repartieron el equipo entre ellos mismos. Los mayores les ayudaron a los mas pequeños a organizar juegos y otras actividades. Habia un bus de ayuda medica parqueado en la carretera. Ya que no sucedieron ninguna clase de accidentes el bus se uso para secar la ropa de los niños y calentarlos cuando tenian frio. Salsichas, puerco con frijoles, y chocolate caliente tambien estaban disponibles.

Rosa Montez tambien nos explico algunos de los valores terapeuticos del viaje. Ella habia estado trabajando por parte de un programa tutorial con un niño que no podia comunicarse con sus padres y tenia dificultades con sus amigos. Durante el viaje el mismo niño se animo y no tuvo ningun problema jugando con los otros niños.

Tomando todo en cuenta, todos los trabajadores de Servicios Sociales concluyen que el viaje fue un gran éxito y una experiencia inolvidable. Les ofrecio una oportunidad de interrelacionarse con los niños que ellos trabajan en un ambiente muy distinto, y mas que todo fue una oportunidad inigualable para los niños.

Los trabajadores sociales concluyeron su relacion con estas palabras, "Pensamos que se necesitan mas programas de esta clase por parte de agencias sociales, esta es una manera excelente de practicar un programa de salud mental preventiva."

NELL

Good morning, good cooks. Since we are still recovering from the fun and excitement of Christmas and New Years and from the rich and Fancy cooking spree we indulged in during the holidays, let's stick to some simple and plain casserole dishes today. Whenever we think of casseroles we think of ground beef, and that's just what this first recipe calls for, plus some other interesting ingredients.

BUFFET DISH

- 1 pound hamburger
- 1 cup sliced onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon chili powder
- 2 cups cold boiled potatoes, sliced
- 1 12-oz. can whole kernel corn
- 1 can tomato soup
- 1/2 cup milk

Brown the pound hamburger. Move meat to side and brown the one cup onion. Mix in the one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon each pepper and chili powder. In two-quart casserole, lightly greased, place the layer of meat and onion, followed by the two cups potatoes. Press down flat and add the 12-ounces corn. Combine the can tomato soup and one-half cup milk. Pour over mixture, gently lifting top and sides so sauce can run down. Bake uncovered at 375-degrees for 20 to 30 minutes or until bubbling hot. Serves 6.

An interesting combination of canned peaches with rice, ground beef and seasonings makes a very attractive and tasty dinner.

PEACHY SPANISH RICE

- 1 can cling peach halves (29 ounces)
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 1 pound ground beef
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup rice
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 can tomato sauce (8-oz.)
- 3 Tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Drain the peaches, saving 1/2 cup syrup. Heat the two tablespoons oil in skillet; add the pound ground beef and brown. Push beef to one side. Add the half cup each onion and green pepper and clove garlic, saute about 2 minutes. Stir in the half cup each water and rice, one and one-half teaspoons salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper; one can tomato sauce and reserved 1/2 cup peach syrup. Cover and simmer 30 minutes or until rice is tender.

Spoon into 11x7-inch baking dish. With back of spoon make 6 hollows in rice for peaches. Place peach half, cut side up in each indentation. Sprinkle with the three tablespoons Parmesan cheese. Bake in 400-degree oven for 10 minutes. Serve at once. Serves 4 to 6.

Choral Society to Launch Rehearsals

The San Mateo County Choral Society will begin rehearsals for its spring season of concerts Jan. 8 at 8 p.m. at the Burlingame Intermediate School, 1715 Quesada Way, Burlingame.

Programs for this series of performances will include "Last Words of Christ on the Cross" by Haydn which will be given at St. Bartholomew's Church in San Mateo March 31 and again at All Souls Catholic Church in South San Francisco on Palm Sunday evening, April 7.

Also scheduled for the late spring are two performances of some of the Brahms "Liedeslieder Waltzes," several Mozart trios and some of the Frostiana Country Songs by Randall Thompson. These will be performed both at the Burlingame Recreation Center and at Carmel United Methodist Church in San Carlos.

A fund-raising spaghetti supper will be held at the Burlingame Recreation Center, Feb. 17.

The Choral Society, which now numbers 60 members, is under the direction of Dr. Marietta Tassos of Millbrae. Membership is open to any interested adults of San Mateo County throughout January.

Look to '74

In 1966, the City Manager of Daly City told the Mayor and City Council that among the greatest needs of Daly City was "a long term plan for the accomplishment of needed Capital Improvements which have not been able to keep pace with the City's phenomenal growth."

Since then plans have been developed, many improvements have been made, and Daly City citizens have spoken with pride of "a century of progress in half the time." Yet the year 1974 promises to be one of the greatest years of capital improvement in Daly City's history.

A recent summary of city activities shows that there are 23 projects scheduled for completion in 1974. Among them are such long desired facilities as the Westmoor Swimming Pool, the Serramonte Library, the expansion of the Lincoln Park Community Center, the completion of municipal parking lots to serve the Mission Street Business District and the construction of a water control center with telemetry control.

The erection of the Westmoor Pool as a joint venture between the City of Daly City and the Jefferson High School District will be the fulfillment of a dream nearly as old as Daly City itself. Indeed, records show that as long ago as the mid 1960's candidates for the City Council were calling for the erection of the Westmoor Pool.

THE COMPLETION of parking lots to serve the Mission Street Business Districts will, indeed, be a dream come true. Here, where Daly City began, the city will take the first step towards realizing the plans for Mission Street, often expressed and now printed as part of the Daly City General Plan. These parking lots alone could be a shot in the arm to Mission Street merchants and could spark new businesses such as those mentioned for a mall in the general plan: a newstand, a flower stand, a shoeshine stand, stores, shops and many others.

The Serramonte Library will give Daly City a good share of the space needed by a modern city for the intellectual and cultural development of its people. Among the features planned for the new library are an audio-visual department, a Northern San Mateo County and California history room, a young adult reading and study area, an adult section, a children's section and a community room that may be reserved for recitals, art shows and cultural programs.

During 1974, the street improvements that are slated for completion include resurfacing roads in all parts of Daly City and the placement of five traffic signals at Junipero Serra and San Pedro Road, Eastmoor and Sullivan, Lake Merced and John Daly Boulevard, Geneva and Schwerin and at Gellert and Hickey.

Among the most exciting projects to be completed in 1974 are those involving parks and recreation facilities. One of these, the expansion of the Lincoln Park Community Center, will change a small but greatly utilized center into a much needed facility. At long last the Senior Citizens organization that meets there, as well as many other organizations, will find the room necessary to carry on their programs.

ANOTHER parks and recreation program designed for 1974 completion involves Gellert Park (Phases I and II): earth grading, parking area, three tennis courts, three basketball courts, horseshoe pits, a handball court, a tot lot area, a picnic shelter, four golf driving cages and a grassy field area.

The need for Gellert Park becomes evident when one reviews present conditions. The largest present day park, Marchbanks, is but 10 acres; the next, Westlake, has only seven acres. Tiny Lincoln Park has only seven-tenths of an acre, the remaining parks — if one can use that word to describe them — are little more than tot lots.

The completion of the 1974 capital projects comes as the result of many hours of study as to priority and methods of financing. In this respect it must be noted that the projects have not piled bond issues upon the taxpayers nor added great amounts to the city taxes.

THE ANNUAL BRIDGE marathon sponsored by St. Martin's Episcopal Church in Daly City will begin in January. Five games, one each month through June will be played. Players may select their own partners and playing time. Games will be played in the players' homes and a small fee will be charged. Cash prizes will be awarded at the end of the marathon. Seen practicing from left are Mrs. Edward McMahon, Mrs. Masaharu Yoshioka, Mrs. Edward S. S. Berry and Mrs. Rene J. Paz. For details on the marathon call 755-5483. Photo by George Brooke)

South City Man Beaten by Five

A South San Francisco resident, Alex Page, 30, 701 Airport Blvd., was attacked by five unidentified persons as he left a Lux Ave. bar early Sunday, according to South San Francisco police. Police said Page was struck over the head twice by a golf club. Page believed the motive was robbery but the attackers received nothing.

Congregation B'nai Israel Men's Club to Seat Staff

Sabbath services will be held at Congregation B'nai Israel Jan. 4 at 8:30 p.m.

The service will be conducted by Rabbi Sheldon Edwards and Cantor Jacob Graudenz, who will chant the liturgy.

Highlight of the evening will be the installation of the officers and trustees of the Men's Club of the congregation.

To be installed are Julius Michaelis, president; Dr. Leonard Levine, Leonard Mayer and Milton Potak, vice presidents; Werner Snyder, treasurer; Stanley Spinrod, secretary; and Gerald Fox, Al Herpe, Julius Geller and Eddy Sennett, trustees.

Sabbath morning services will be conducted on Saturday at 10 a.m.

"The Patriarchs" is the sermon topic selected by Rabbi Edwards.

That evening, during Ma'ariv and Havdalah services, Helen Dobrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morton

Dobrow, will become Bat Mitzvah, the attainment of adulthood in the eyes of the synagogue.

Helen will participate in the service performing readings and will chant a portion of Proverbs to display her skill in the Hebrew language.

Included in the service will be a portion during which members of the family, teachers and friends of the candidate for Bat Mitzvah will be honored during a candlelight ceremony.

Angry Judge Grants Lucero Custody of Illegitimate Son

An angry judge Dec. 21 ordered that Pfc. Daniel Lucero of Pacifica have sole custody of his illegitimate son.

The jurist, Presiding Superior Court Judge G. Brooks

Ice, was angry because he had been told that the foster parents had left the state with the child.

The hearing had been scheduled to secure an order from the court giving Lucero visitation rights with his 2½-year-old son whom he hasn't seen for two years.

Lucero's attorney, George Corey, informed the court as the hearing opened that "our worst fears are realized... the foster parents left last night or today, and I'm quite bothered about that."

"I don't think they had any business leaving with that child when they knew this case was pending," the judge stated.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Carolee Houser informed the court that the foster parents had never been named as defendants in the custody matter, only the County Adoptive Agency.

The foster parents had been planning for one month to go to Omaha, Neb., to visit relatives over the Christmas-New Year's holidays and plan to return Jan. 6, she said.

There was no restraining order, Judge Ice admitted. "But they are taking advantage of the court, and I want the record to show that the court doesn't like this a little bit. It's a good thing they are not coming before me on Jan. 7."

Judge Ice referred to the date that Superior Court Judge Melvin E. Cohn is scheduled to rule whether Lucero has established permanent residence in the county and can assume custody of his son.

Judge Cohn ordered last April that Lucero receive custody, but stayed the order until Lucero, who was stationed in Colorado at the time, could establish residence locally.

Lucero was transferred to the Presidio at San Francisco a month ago, and Corey filed a petition a few days later asking that Judge Cohn's order be implemented.

However, Judge Cohn is away on vacation until early next year and the hearing could not be scheduled until Jan. 7.

Meanwhile, Corey asked Judge Ice last week to grant Lucero visitation rights over the holidays.

After hearing Corey's report last week, Judge Ice stated, "I'm inclined to give him (Lucero) custody right now."

"You can take it to the District Court of Appeal," he told Miss Houser.

The judge proceeded to chastise Miss Houser, who tried to make a comment, for interrupting him.

"There has been complicity on the part of these people (the foster parents)," Judge Ice added.

The judge declined Corey's request for an order directing the foster parents to turn over custody of the child when they return, indicating that his custody order should take care of that.

Lucero resides with his mother, Mrs. Eva Lucero, in Pacifica. Judge Ice said that Mrs. Lucero, who was in court with her son, is a "proper person" to care for the child while Lucero is away from home on his Army duty.

Early Warnings of Current Fuel Crisis

Should we be surprised by the energy crisis? The answer is negative both as to long run shortages and temporary (?) deprivations.

The long run story had been widely publicized. Central facts were well known: the world supply of oil is limited, American reserves were being depleted, our insatiable appetite for oil was steadily increasing along with that of other developed countries, and as demand rose and supplies dried up American reliance upon foreign sources would increase.

The passing scene intrigued us, and we paid little attention as our drift toward disaster accelerated. In some mysterious way, we knew, the problem would either solve itself or be solved as one of the limitless boons of American ingenuity. Loss of raw material so essential to western civilization was so unthinkable that we didn't think about it.

Our surprise at the emergence of short run causes of shortages is equally unjustified. At the risk of "Pearl Harbor hindsight," a review of the facts is worthwhile.

The key to American expectations has long been Saudi Arabia. It has the largest oil reserves in the world. Among the oil rich nations of the Mideast, Saudi Arabia appeared to be a most dependable and steady friend of the United States. The impression was common that in the event of real trouble King Faisal would protect us.

This attitude ignored the fact that there were pressures on Faisal that could drive him away from us and into common action with other Arab states. Since the death of Nasser there has been a three-cornered contest for pan-Arabic leadership. The contestants have been Libya's Muammar Khadafi, Egypt's President Anwar Sadat and Faisal. A good first year student of political science could have predicted the risks of this power struggle.

In addition, for at least a year, Saudi Arabia had been sending up warning signals. These were ignored, much in the manner the early signs of Pearl Harbor were not related to mounting events. A brief chronology is most informative.

Sept. 30, 1972. Oil Minister Zaki Yamani came to Washington to address the Middle East Institute Conference. In the course of a press conference, Yamani commented that his government was questioning the wisdom of increasing production beyond the needs of Saudi Arabia for development revenues.

December 1972: A statement was attributed to King Faisal that Saudi Arabia would "never use oil as a weapon as Libya and Iraq."

April 1973. Again in Washington, Yamani indicated to U.S. officials a possible Saudi change of policy concerning Aramco's plans for expansion of production.

May 1973. King Faisal told Frank Jungers, president of Aramco: "I cannot stand much longer against pressures of the Arab world to modify our position of cooperation with the United States."

July 1973. King Faisal made it plain in an interview with two American correspondents that it might well be difficult for Saudi Arabia to continue increasing production unless the United States changed its Mideast policy.

Sept. 1973. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat initiated a new friendship with King Faisal. Faisal warns that he would use oil reserves as a threat to influence American Mideast policy.

Oct. 18, 1973. Saudi Arabia radio broadcast a threat of King Faisal to halt completely the flow of oil to the United States unless America stops its military aid to Israel.

Oct. 20, 1973. The government of Saudi Arabia imposed an embargo on oil shipments to the United States.

Embargo May Cause Setback

Dean Witter & Co. says that the duration of the Arab oil embargo will determine whether the United States experiences a recession next year.

An embargo lasting 12 months or longer would precipitate a major recession of possibly four quarters of negative growth. Profits would be down 10 to 15 per cent, it said in a newsletter.

What brought about American indifference to repeated warnings? The reasons for this are complex. They seem to rest in divided responsibility, both within government and between government and the private sector, a certain amount of American chauvinism, and widespread doubt, certainly among politicians, that shortages were imminent or real. Finally, the idea of immediate fuel shortages did not coincide with conventional wisdom, any more than on Dec. 6, 1941, an attack on Pearl Harbor was considered within the realm of the possible.

The Pacifica Planning Commission is standing firm on its recommendation to attach a 10-foot front yard setback to its approval of a use permit applied for by Frank M. Wright.

According to Jim Miller, planning administrator, "the initial development was to have been a little building at the front of the property, with two parking spaces in the back."

Wright plans to expand his development at San Pedro Terrace, located at the southwesterly corner of Kent Road and Danman Avenue, to include the installation of a pool, at the far end of the land area. "He would like to provide some kind of lessons," in with his business, the sale of ocean and beach-related products, according to Miller.

Wright is opposed to the setback because in moving the building back, he could not put the pool where he originally planned, or even to one side.

Although Wright contends that the loss of footage would be a hardship on him, the commission insists that vehicular safety takes top priority in the matter. Miller explained that with the structure built on the property line, "people who happen to turn the corner could not see on-coming traffic."

Building Department officials indicated that "due to the large unused rear yard and limiting of the line of sight when a building has a zero foot front yard setback. It recommended that the building be set back 10 feet minimum and the setback be used for landscape purposes. The building setback would also resolve a building code violation in that eaves are not permitted to cross property lines as shown on the plans."

The staff recommended that the commission approve the use permit for construction, maintenance and operation of Wright's retail store, subject to four conditions: that the front yard setback be 10 feet minimum and that it be used for landscaping; that the use permit be valid for a period of one year from the date of final approval; that any necessary approvals be obtained from the Central Coast Regional Coastal Zone Conservation Commission prior to the issuance of any construction permits; and that a permit for site development be obtained.

The commission voted in favor of Wright's application, but there was yet another snag remaining in the owner's future plans.

758; Sandy Lewis, No. 758; Linda Dunn, No. 858; Maria Karkazis, No. 1068; Josephine Stark, No. 1377 and Teresa Lambro of No. 1854 are also cookie chairmen on the Junior level.

Pat Stellings, K. A. Goodsell and Ms. Glynis Heissenbittel, No. 2561; A. B. Roth, No. 2630; Doris Huskins, No. 2817; Jim Hertogs, No. 2855; and Kay Kelly with a new troop, will serve during the Jan. 11-27 period.

CADETTE COOKIE chairmen for troops include Mesdames Kathy Galvin, No. 124; A. B. Bignardi, No. 716; Nancy Battaglia, No. 1620 and Georgia Law, No. 1636. SENIOR TROOP cookie chairmen include one leader, Mrs. Margaret Damon of MSS No. 13 and two Senior Scouts, Joan Scarpino of No. 422 and Leslie Schwarzbach of No. 24.

TROOP NO. 476 held a recent progressive dinner with Mesdames Joan Stewart, A. B. Sturdivant, C. D. Sargent, Bill Whelan, Davie Sullivan, Shirley Pappas; E. F. Ali, and D. C. Ulukou serving at various homes.

Fred Steart and Mesdames Tim Burke and William Whelan providing driving services for the girls.

Pacific planning commissioners recently discussed taking legal action against a contractor who built a family room on to the rear of a home without getting a building permit.

The room was nearly completed when city building official Phil Mayo caught it, according to Les Clark, director of community development. The room also violated the setback regulations.

At the end, however, the commissioners decided merely to charge the contractor a double permit fee.

James G. Schmitt, the contractor, present at the meeting on behalf of American Addition Systems, requested a variance to allow a reduction in rear yard setback from the required 10 feet, to 15 feet, for the construction of an addition onto the existing residence at 1231 Galvez Drive.

"There is plenty of area and the house takes up a very small portion of the total land," he said. "Behind the property, there is at least 300-400 feet before you reach another piece of property."

In justification of the extra five feet, he stated that "a 20-foot family room would be a real family room. A game table could be put in, and furniture." He indicated that this would not be possible in a smaller area.

The land borders the creek in the back and is secluded from the rear, according to Commissioner Jim Brush. "The house sits forward and in no way looks into the adjacent property. I don't think it would do any harm," he said.

The room itself would not be an actual wood frame structure. Schmitt explained that "it is going to be a screened porch with a Fiberglas top."

"The roof is removable and has been put in because the city was short of a plans checker and people were interested in getting it started," he said.

"What we have done can still be checked by the commission. It's nothing that can't be stopped at this time."

Commissioner Brush moved that the item be approved, "because of special circumstances applicable to the property, building, or use referred to in the application, including size, shape, topography, location, or surroundings."

Also, that the granting of such application will not, under the circumstances of the particular case, materially affect adversely the health or interests of the people of the community."

Commissioner Richard T. Meier seconded the motion, but before a vote could be taken, Commissioner George Edsall said:

"This problem has been caused because you failed to take out a preliminary building permit in the first place."

"I agree," he continued, "that the owner certainly should not suffer, but I would have to oppose it and the opposition is entirely due to you, Mr. Schmitt."

Following the 6-1 vote of approval, the subject of legal recourse was brought up. Les Clark, director of Community Development, answered affirmatively.

Small World

LOCAL NOTES:

Small World Department (or should it be Strange Story Department?): recently viewing a local high school basketball game were yours truly, Terra Nova baseball coach Marty Coil, who put in times as a Giant farm hand, and Ron Shirley, who in his youth (in the '50's) was a Dodger farm product.

Yours truly, groping for a simile to describe boredom, made a snide remark which came out something like, "That's like going out on the town in Lubbock, Texas," which was a reference to a small town which used to be in the old West Texas-New Mexico League.

"Lubbock, Texas," replied Shirley, his eyes lighting up as if he had heard the name of an old friend. "I used to play ball in Lubbock."

"So did I," shouted Coil, and there, in a high school gymnasium in Pacifica, California, were two guys cutting up old touches about Lubbock, Texas... and what do you suppose the odds are that two out of three men attending a high school basketball game in Pacifica, California, would have ever spent time in Lubbock, Texas? And that the third had even heard of it?

So there went our simile about boredom. Footnote: If you're a trivia freak, you might be interested to know that - according to Shirley - the late movie star Peter Lorre owned the Lubbock Hotel, where Shirley bedded down in his playing days, and used to wander the lobby every night, hands jammed in pockets and smoking a stubb of a cigarette, just like in "Casablanca." Lorre, that was, not Shirley.

Footnote Two: We'll bet nobody in Lubbock, Texas, ever heard of Pacifica, California.

BILL DOWNING, former Terra Nova-USF all-star shortstop who played his first year of pro ball just last season with the Braves, has been told by no less an authority than Braves' Manager Eddie Mathews that he would be playing somewhere in the varsity infield soon.

ANOTHER FORMER Tiger, Jeff Wellemeyer, has worked his way into the starting San Francisco State basketball five, with a shooting percentage from the field of 53.7 to go along with his usual rugged brand of rebounding and defense.

As season's start, Wellemeyer was generally listed among the second and third liners in the future prospect book.

BOB TOLEDO, former Gator Little All American quarterback (circa '67) who still holds most Gator and several national passing records, has been named new head coach at UC Riverside. Toledo had previously been head man at San Francisco's Torero High for three years, and an assistant under Wayne Howard, the man whom he replaces at Riverside, for one year.

RAY LUNNY III, the great young lightweight fighting out of Redwood City, battled locally five times in '73 and pulled in five of the top six Bay Area fight gates of the year.

FOOTBALL QUIZ OF THE WEEK:

1. Who has the most college coaching wins, Woodie Hayes or Bear Bryant?
2. Which of the above two coaches has the best winning percentage?
3. How many players are there in the NFL with the surname of Brown?
4. Who among active major college coaches have the three highest winning percentages? (Minimum five years.)
5. What college team has been the toughest defending its goal line over the past five years?
6. What all-time college records are still held by actor Jimmy Brown and Supreme Court Justice Byron "Whizzer" White?
7. Who is the nation's winningest active coach (percentage of wins) with at least 10 seasons at a major college?
8. Who was dumb enough to go to the trouble of making up this trivial quiz?

ANSWERS:

1. Bryant (220 to 182) - Bryant, in fact, has more wins than any active major college coach, while Hayes stands second in that category. 2. Bryant (.748 to .745). 3. 16 Joe Paterno (Penn State), Frank Kush (Arizona State), Bo Schembechler (Michigan). 4. Got that Woodie? 5. Michigan. 6. Got that Woodie? 6. White still holds the single season record for all-purpose running (yardage gained rushing, receiving and on all run-backs), on average per-game basis. In 1937, he averaged 243.3 yards per game, when he gained 1,970 yards in eight games: 1121 rushing, 103 on interception returns, 587 on punt returns, 159 on kickoff returns. Brown still holds the record for most points scored in a single game. In 1956 against Syracuse, he scored 43 points via six TD's and 7 PAT's. 7. Frank Kush. 8. Hint: somebody who is just as dumb as the people who have gone to the trouble of trying to take it.

WHENEVER the 49ers were criticized this past season, the brunt of the sassy talk fell on the offense in general and the running game in particular, with an astrisk explaining the unsettled and confusing quarterback situation.

In retrospect, this was all rather curious, because the 49ers managed to finish fifth in the National Conference in total offense, first in the conference in yards gained passing (second in all of pro football behind Denver), and there were six teams in pro football with fewer yards gained rushing.

The 49ers' problem, obviously, was defense, and will continue to be until they get at least one more solid defensive tackle (especially if Charley Krueger retires), a couple of better than journeyman linebackers, allow Bruce Taylor to do nothing more than return kicks, and start training a replacement for still competent but no longer great Jimmy Johnson.

DESPITE the pleas of a local television sportscaster for the 49ers to make Arizona State's Woody Green their number one draft pick, the prospectors had better lay off that one.

The inside word is that Green has such bad knees that this past season he was used only on plays where it was felt there was a minimum of risk of his being hit from the side or from behind. He can take the straight-on jolts it is said, but is in danger of falling apart on the other kinds of hits. If strategy called for that type of run, Green was pulled out until the coast was clear.

He was, in a word, protected so that he could land a high draft pick and pick up some loot before possibly being forced into an early retirement.

Our source on the Green story was what might be termed as "reliable second hand." But if we were able to pick up even a reliable second hand bit of such information, it is certainly not inconceivable that pro football's vast and complex scouting system could have picked up the same information. It will thus be interesting to see where Green goes in the pro draft.

It is such unknown (to the public) factors which so often make a low draft choice out of a predicted (by the "experts") predicting only on statistics) number one: such factors as unpublished bad knees, homosexuality (yes, they're in pro football, too) and dope addiction (which is a much bigger problem, even among some of the game's stars, than most football people will admit).

Capuchino High's basketball team broke open a tight game with a Dan Ross-led spurge two minutes into the final quarter yesterday to defeat visiting North Peninsula League favorite El Camino, 69-63.

In other games involving NPL teams, Terra Nova got smashed by Crestmoor, 73-58. Oceana beat McAteer, 62-48, and South San Francisco took O'Connell, 49-43. Neither Cap nor the Colts could gain an upper hand until the Mustangs went into a man-to-man press early in the last period that picked up the action all in Cap's favor. Ross, who led both teams with 21 points, canned ten during the three-and-a-half minute surge on two break-ways, one drive and two perimeter shots. The Tangs grabbed an 11-point lead and that was it. Capuchino center Kim Jensen kept up his fine inside play with 15 points, while Frank Denucci had 11 and Rich Silver ten. Center Steve Kennedy and forward John Christmas had 16 each for EC, and Mike Jiggetts hit a Colt high of 17.

Crestmoor also used a press well, forcing 19 total turnovers while running up a 23-point half-time lead. Keith Larsen (19), Howard Johnson (17) and Rick Suar (12) were in double figures by the half for the Falcons.

Suarez had 15 rebounds and Johnson 13 for Crestmoor. Terra Nova guard Bob Downing led the Tigers with 17 points.

South City survived five technical fouls to get its second win after six consecutive losses. With the score tied 41-41 in the fourth quarter, John McKeon's free throw, a bucket by Al Dunn, and a lay-in off a steal by McKeon iced the game for the Warriors.

Dunn and McKeon had 11 points each for SSF, and Pete Athearn chipped in with ten.

Oceana ran off a point string of 19-0 in the second and third periods to overcome a deficit and get its first win after eight defeats. Mike Osborne led an effective fast break and finished with 19 points.

'REAL' SEASON STARTS FRIDAY

Cagers Open Loop Play

By FRED BAER

Times Correspondent

Of San Mateo Community College District's three basketball teams, only College of San Mateo will carry a winning record into the New Year and the start of conference play this weekend.

Santa Ana spoiled Skyline's perfect record at home, ending a four-game Trojan win streak with an 88-78 comeback triumph to repeat as champion of the Skyline Classic Saturday night after CSM had defeated Napa, 84-72, for third place.

Meanwhile Canada, after staying above .500 through most of the month, dropped to 5-7 with three straight losses in the San Joaquin Delta Tourney at Stockton. The Colts came close Saturday, going into overtime before Contra Costa claimed an 81-74 triumph.

But Canada will get a quick repeat shot at the Comets (4-9), opening Camino Norte play by hosting them in Redwood City Saturday at 8 p.m. Skyline (6-7) makes its Coast Conference debut the same evening against visiting Ohlone (3-11) at 7:30.

San Mateo (10-3) opens Golden Gate Conference play a day earlier - also at home - against Diablo Valley (7-8), Friday at 8 p.m. Diablo finished fourth in the Delta tourney, beating Canada in the opener, 83-74, and losing to GGC foes City College of San Francisco, 74-63, and Chabot, 107-84. Chabot is the state's winningest team at 15-1, only loss coming to Chaffey (at Delta), which took the tourney title with a 64-59 triumph over CCSF.

At skyline Saturday, CSM had a bit more trouble with a weak Napa team than expected - but was able to hold a 7-12 point advantage most of the way. "We didn't play with enthusiasm," said Bulldog coach Bobby Pounds.

CSM's three front liners had just four rebounds apiece at halftime, where CSM led, 43-36, and Pounds said, "I got on them." Williams wound-up with 19 rebounds and eight points and was named to the all-tourney team. Pacing the Bulldogs in scoring were guard Bob Wright and forward Craig Nance, each with 20 points.

Pounds is however worried about regular guard Howard Trotter, who sat out the tourney with a pulled muscle in his lower back incurred against state champion Compton in the Modesto tourney a week ago. "If we don't get him back in another week, it could be more serious than we expected," said the Bulldog mentor. "The doctor has been giving him muscle relaxing injections but he hasn't responded too well yet."

Without Trotter in the lineup, Santa Ana bothered CSM with a press on Friday night. And the visiting Dons gave Skyline the same trouble on Saturday.

Ski Tips
By Don Cappa
Stan's Sports

1. A glove should not fit like a glove. A tight fitting glove will not allow proper circulation of body heat so your fingers and hands will get cold. There should be about 2 inch additional length in each finger for proper fit.
2. Always wear sun glasses while skiing. The reflection of sunlight off the snow is approximately 20 times greater than off other objects. So in order to prevent "snow blindness," always protect your eyes from the sun.
3. While skiing, two color lenses are generally used in goggles or glasses. The green lens is for bright sunlight, and the yellow lens is for overcast days to brighten the ground making it easier to spot ruts and moguls in the snow.
4. When buying new boots, "fit points" are important. The foot must be comfortable with the toes free to move slightly. The foot should be secure in the boot, but not to the extent that it cuts off the circulation. The heel should rise about 1/4 inch from the sole of the boot, while you are in a kneeling position. A new boot will hurt around the ankles until you become used to the pressure.
5. Always use some kind of tanning agent when in the snow. Reflections from the snow can burn the skin.
6. Always take a pair of long-johns with you when you ski. Beginning skiers spend as much time in the snow as on the snow.
7. A beginning skier should consider renting ski equipment before he invests a lot of money in new gear that may not suit his needs. After skiing several times, the beginner will know the fit and length of skis most suited for him, and can then make a more equitable decision on the equipment he needs.

Rec. Department Sets Skating Party

A roller skating party is planned for Daly City youngsters Jan. 3. Children will be picked up by bus at playgrounds at 12:30 p.m. Cost of the trip which includes admission, skates and insurance, will be $1.75. Approximate return time is 4:30 p.m. Children interested in skating should see their local recreation leader for permission slips and information on where to board the bus. Buses will take children from Midway playground.

Lincoln Park Clubhouse, Westlake School, the War Memorial Community Center, Olympia School and George Washington School Jan. 3 beginning at 12:30 p.m. Jan. 4 children will be picked up at Araham Lincoln School, Skyline School, Vista Mar School, Colma School, D. Webster School and F. D. Roosevelt School.

For details call the Recreation Department at 992-5356.

SOQUEL TOURNEY Serra Opens With Victory

Special to The Times
A holiday trip to Santa Cruz got off to a good start for Serra High's basketball team Wednesday night in the first round of the Soquel Invitational Tourney.

The Padres pounded Alisal of Salinas, 63-43, to move into a winner's bracket semifinal game tonight at 7:30 against run-and-gun Aptos.

John Caselli's sharp outside shooting and some nifty back door plays ending in Ron Jackson lay-ins got Serra out to an early lead, which the Padres gradually increased until reserves took over in the last quarter.

Jackson led Serra with 13 points, while Caselli and Center Buzz Harnett had 11 each. Harnett's rebounding was another strong point for the Padres, who ended up with a decisive edge on the boards.

Jackson, a 6-3 forward, and Harnett, a 6-6 center, both made all-tourney teams for the third time this season Saturday night as Serra won the Soquel Invitational in Santa Cruz with a 45-42 triumph over Castro Valley at Cabrillo College.

Jackson, the tourney MVP, led the Padres with 17 points. Harnett, the MVP in Serra's own invitational last weekend, had 13. Junior guard John Caselli, the Padres' third Soquel all-tourney pick, had 11.

Mills is Prepared

Mills High's basketball team should be well-prepared for the Mid-Peninsula League season after finishing three nights of tough competition in the CSU San Francisco Invitational.

The Vikings beat Santa Rosa, 61-57, for their only win in the event Saturday night, but as coach Bill Smith said, "I was really pleased with the way we played. Even in the two games we lost, we did a good job. We were going against some good teams, too. It seemed like we'd been up there a week after it was over."

A strong Mills third quarter, sparked by the off-bench efforts of Gary Monasteri and Mike Amaroli, was the difference — although the Vikes needed four clutch free throws from Russ Colombo and two pressure baskets from All-Invitational Nick Pappageorge to hold the lead at the end.

Amaroli and fast-improving Jim Bradshaw led defending MPL champ Mills with 14 points each. Junior center Dan Begovich added ten.
